

Like Samuel the Lamanite

“Samuel the Lamanite was so brave!” May exclaimed.

“Yeah,” Auggie agreed. “Like how he stood up on the wall and wasn’t afraid to talk to the people about Jesus. I would be pretty scared. Especially if people started shooting arrows at me like they did to him.”

“You know,” Dad spoke up. “Prophets from the scriptures and prophets today testify of Jesus Christ. They know He is our savior and are not afraid to proclaim about Him to everyone.”

“Can you imagine people throwing rocks at the prophet in General Conference?” Auggie thought. “That would be bad.”

“It would be bad, but Heavenly Father protects His prophets.” Dad explained. “Just like Samuel the Lamanite was not harmed when he stood on the wall, our prophet will not be harmed as he stands at the pulpit. In today’s world, there are less arrows and more mean words said in the media. But does that stop the prophet from testifying?”

“No!” May smiled.

“No,” Dad winked. “We belong to The Church of Jesus Christ. Our prophet will continue to be brave like Samuel the Lamanite and stand before the people and testify of Him. And if we choose to follow the prophet, we will be blessed.”
